People have always been interested in studying the sun, the moon, planets, and stars. Even cave people were doing that. They drew the different shapes of the moon on the walls of their caves. Long ago, sailors studied the stars to help them travel. The Greeks discovered many of the planets and gave them names. They believed that the planets, the moon and the sun were moving around the Earth. In the 18th century people understood that the Earth was also a planet and that all the planets were moving around the sun.

This text deals with ...

- 1) a city park.
- 2) city transport.
- 3) a famous house.
- 4) a group of museums.
- 5) the main facts about a city.
- 6) food.

A. Washington, D.C. is the capital of the United States of America. It is located between Virginia and Maryland on the Potomac River. Washington D.C. is also the headquarters of the federal government. This beautiful city is a symbol of the country's history and the home of many important historical landmarks.

B. Many of Washington, D.C.'s famous landmarks are located in the National Mall. The Mall is a long, narrow, parklike area that is located in the middle of the city's many huge buildings. In the spring, cherry trees blossom in the National Mall. People enjoy coming here with children over the weekend. On both sides of the Mall several big museums are located.

C. Not far from the National Mall, one can see the White House. George Washington, the first American president, chose a place for the White House in 1791. It took 8 years to construct, and since 1800, when John Adams and his wife Abigail moved into it, it has been home to all the U.S. presidents. Many of the rooms of the White House are open to the public and are visited by tourists.

D. Several museums that surround the National Mall are known together as the Smithsonian Institution. It was founded in 1846 in the name of the British scientist James Smithson who left his money to create an institution of science and learning. Today, the Smithsonian Institution includes nineteen museums, nine research centers and a zoo.

E. Washington, D.C. is one of the world's most international cities. It is no wonder that it has one of the most vibrant restaurant scenes in the United States. The restaurants have chefs from many different countries. Think of a national food — and Washington, D.C. has it: French, Italian, Mexican, Korean, Vietnamese, Indian, Thai, and even Russian! Restaurants vary from very cheap and casual ones to very fashionable and expensive.

An animal doctor is called a vet. Some vets work for zoos or animal hospitals. Many have their own private offices. Vets do most of the same things that doctors do. They take the animal's temperature, listen to their heart beat and take X-rays. They also decide what kind of medicine a sick animal may need. If an animal is too thin, too fat or has specific health problems, the doctor may recommend a special diet. It takes about six to seven years of university studies to become a vet.

A. Edinburgh is the capital of Scotland. One of the most popular places to visit there is Edinburgh Castle. The castle is the symbol of Edinburgh. It has stood on Castle Rock in the old town since the 12th century. Historians say that this castle has seen more wars than any place in the world. It is one of the few ancient castles in Britain that still have an army.

B. One of the most important things kept in Edinburgh Castle is the Stone of Destiny. This ordinary-looking piece of rock has a very difficult history. It was used for crowning the kings of Scotland. It was later stolen by the kings of England and many wars were fought over it between the two countries for over 700 years before it was returned to its home.

C. Edinburgh was built on Seven Hills. The highest point of all the hills is called Arthur's Seat. It is popular with tourists as it is easy to climb and from there you can see beautiful views of the city. The name comes from the legends of King Arthur. Some people believe that the hill was the place where Camelot, the legendary castle of King Arthur, once stood.

D. Tourists visiting Edinburgh can try some of the best of Scotland's national food. One of the most famous dishes you can try in Edinburgh is haggis. Haggis is a pudding made from sheep's heart, liver and lungs, mixed with onions, spices and salt. Some myths say that Haggis is a creature that lives in the Scottish Highlands.

E. Edinburgh hosts a series of festivals that go on from July to early September each year. The most famous of these festivals are the Edinburgh International Festival and the Edinburgh Book Festival. Many theatre groups and writers come to this festival. It is an open-access festival, meaning anyone can take part with any type of performance.

Black bears and polar bears are different in many ways. But they also have a lot in common. Their body shapes are alike, and they both have thick coats of fur. Baby bears of all kinds are very small and stay with their mother for a year or more. The main difference between black bears and polar bears is their size. Polar bears can be up to three times as big as black bears. Black bears eat berries, nuts and small animals. Polar bears eat sea animals. Black bears sleep during the winter, but polar bears remain active.

A. Ireland is an island in the North Atlantic. The capital and largest city of Ireland is Dublin. In 1988 the city celebrated its 1000-year birthday. Dublin is a center of the arts, education and industry. It is considered to be one of the top 30 cities in the world. Every year Dublin is visited by countless tourists who are interested in things from art to history to food.

B. One of the most popular lucky symbols of Ireland is the leprechaun. A leprechaun is a type of fairy in Irish folklore. Usually they are shown as little men with beards that wear green coats and hats. According to the myths, they have a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow and spend their time making shoes. If they are caught by a human, they will promise to give him three wishes, if the human lets them go.

C. The Irish Limerick is an important part of the country's culture. A limerick is a form of poetry. It has five lines and is usually rude and funny. People are not sure where the first limericks appeared. Though limericks were first made popular in England by Edward Lear, people say that the first limericks were written by Irish poets from the county of Limerick.

D. The introduction of the potato in the 16th century to Ireland forever changed Irish cuisine. As the country was very poor, by the 19th century the diet of most people was made up of potatoes and milk. A normal family would usually eat over 100 kg of potatoes a week. Because of this, most of the national food of the country has potatoes in it.

E. James Joyce, one of the biggest names in the world's literature, was born and educated in Dublin. He is probably the most famous Irish author. James Joyce wrote novels, short stories and poems. But he is most well-known for his novel "Ulysses", which took him 8 years to write.

There are lots of reasons to eat breakfast, especially for teenagers. Breakfast gives a person lots of energy. If a pupil skips his or her breakfast, they may not be attentive enough at school or even fall asleep in class! A good breakfast also builds strong bones and teeth. Many people have milk and other dairy products for breakfast, which help the body to grow strong teeth and bones. A full breakfast keeps people from getting hungry quickly. In many cultures people think that breakfast is the most important meal of the day.

A. Scotland is located in the north of the British Isles. In the north and west of Scotland are the Scottish Highlands. This historic region of Scotland has many mountains, including Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in the British Isles. Very few people live in the Highlands, most of them left this region in the 19th century and moved to the US, Canada, Australia and other places.

B. An important part of Scottish culture is their music. The most famous traditional Scottish instrument is the Great Highland bagpipe. A bagpipe is a wind instrument that is made from a series of pipes which are fed by air in a bag. It was first used in the army, but nowadays bagpipe bands have become more and more popular and have spread throughout the world.

C. The most well-known part of traditional Scottish clothing is the kilt. A kilt is a type of skirt that was worn by men and boys in the Scottish Highlands. In the 16th century kilts were much longer. The modern, shorter kilt came in the 18th century. Nowadays the kilt is most often worn on formal occasions, but recently more people have started wearing kilts as an everyday item of clothing.

D. Loch Ness is one of the most famous lakes of Scotland. It is famous for the Loch Ness Monster, sometimes called Nessie. Nessie is described as a large animal with a very long neck. Throughout history people have claimed to have seen the Loch Ness Monster, but scientists say that none of their proof is real.

E. Robert Burns is the most well-known poet who wrote in the Scots, a language spoken in Lowland Scotland. Burns also wrote in English with a Scots dialect and in standard English. Besides writing poems, Burns also collected traditional Scottish folk songs and adapted them. To this day Robert Burns is a cultural icon to all the people of Scotland.

A. Hawaii is a collection of six small islands near the centre of the Pacific Ocean. It is always warm in Hawaii, and the islands are very beautiful. On some of the islands, the sand on the beaches is not only white, but also black, red and even green. The Big Island of Hawaii is known for its active volcano. Lava flows out of it every day and makes the island grow.

B. Because Hawaii is so beautiful and warm, it is one of the tourists' favourite places to visit. Millions of tourists visit the islands every year. This creates ecological problems. Big hotels are built in the most beautiful areas, the air and the water are becoming less clean. More and more people move to Hawaii to work in the tourist industry. The traditional Hawaiian culture is disappearing.

C. Hawaiian language is very unique. There are only twelve letters in the Hawaiian alphabet: A, E, O, I, U, K, L, M, N, P, H, and W. This makes it very difficult to translate some of the names and words from other languages. "David", for example, is translated into Hawaiian as "Kawika", since there is no D sound. And "Merry Christmas" is "Mele Kalikimaka"!

D. Hawaiian culture is famous for its beautiful music. The style of slack-key guitar is well-known around the world and is often used in Hollywood films. The ukulele — a very small guitar with only four strings — is a traditional Hawaiian musical instrument which is becoming more and more popular in many countries. Queen Lili'uokalani, the last Hawaiian queen, was a musician and composer. Her song "Aloha 'Oe" has become a symbol of Hawaii.

E. There is a big American naval military base on the island of Oahu called Pearl Harbour. This place has a sad history. During the Second World War, early in the morning of December 7, 1941, Japanese planes bombed Pearl Harbour. This was a surprise attack. The American military were not expecting it, and as a result, most American Pacific fleet was destroyed. This attack made the USA declare war on Japan and Germany.

- A. Wales is a country that is part of the United Kingdom. It is considered to be one of the modern Celtic nations. The capital of Wales and its largest city is Cardiff. Until the 19th century Cardiff was only a small town, although it was a major port for the transport of coal after the arrival of industry to Wales. Now it is a commercial and cultural center, as well as a popular tourist destination.
- B. Probably the most important emblem of Wales is the red Welsh Dragon which appears on the flag of Wales. It is supposed that the dragon comes from the myths of King Arthur. The dragon was the battle symbol of King Arthur as well as a few other Celtic leaders. The myth most likely came from the legend of Merlin having a dream about a red dragon fighting a white one.
- C. The two official languages of Wales are Welsh and English. Welsh is a Celtic language that is famous for being very difficult and having some of the longest words in the world: the longest word has 58 letters! About a third of the people living in Wales can speak the language.
- D. The national television broadcaster in Wales is BBC Cymru Wales. It is based in Cardiff and produces both Welsh and English television. Some of the most famous programs made in Wales are “Doctor Who”, “Torchwood” and “Life on Mars”. Many people come to Wales to visit the sets of their favorite shows.

Long ago, people ate with their fingers. They took their food from one large pot. Everyone had to have clean hands before eating. In 1530, a book of manners for children was written. It said that putting more than three fingers in the pot at once was rude. Knives were the first silverware. People could stick knives into pieces of meat that were too hot to hold with their fingers. Only rich people used forks and spoons in the 1700s. By the 1800s, most people could buy them.

A. Australia has a big variety of animals living there. Due to Australia's isolation most of those animals are native to the continent. Australia is home to most of the marsupial animals in the world. Marsupials are animals that carry their young children in pouches, these include kangaroos, koalas and wallabies.

B. James Cook was a British explorer and captain. In 1770, he reached the eastern coastline of the Australian continent and claimed it for Great Britain. Captain James Cook is most known for his mysterious death. It is known only that he was killed by the natives of Hawaii. However, nobody knows how and why this happened.

C. Australia is the oldest, flattest and driest continent that is inhabited by humans. Because of Australia's huge size it has a variety of landscapes including deserts in the south and west of the continent and tropical rainforests to the north and east. The desert area is commonly called the outback and takes up the largest portion of land.

D. The Sydney Opera House is a center of performing arts in Sydney. It is most famous for its architecture, and is considered to be one of the most impressive buildings of the 20th century. Although it is called the Opera House, it does not just host operas. Many different artists perform in the building, including three big companies: Opera Australia, Sydney Symphony Orchestra and the Sydney Theater Company.

E. Australia is home to many water sports, such as surfing and swimming. Many tourists come to Australia specifically to surf. The Surf Lifesaving movement started in Australia. This movement combines aspects of volunteering as lifeguards and aspects of competitive surf sport. Other popular Australian sports include basketball, horseracing and motor racing.

- A. New Zealand is an island country in the southwestern Pacific Ocean. In the 13th century the islands were settled by Polynesians who formed the Maori culture, which is considered to be the native culture of New Zealand. New Zealand was discovered in 1642 by a Dutch explorer. In 1840 the Maori and the British signed a peace treaty that declared British rule.
- B. Sheep farming is one of the most important and well-known industries in New Zealand. There are 39 million sheep in the country, meaning that for every person in New Zealand there are 10 sheep. Sheep were first introduced to the country in the 1770s by James Cook.
- C. New Zealand is in the Southern Hemisphere. So, the months of December, January and February are the summer months, while June, July and August are considered to be winter. This means that Christmas is a summer holiday. Some New Zealanders celebrate Christmas again in the middle of July. The school year begins in February and ends at the same time as the calendar year — at the end of December.
- D. The national cuisine in New Zealand is controlled by the local ingredients as well as by the seasons. New Zealand is mainly an agricultural country, so most of the food comes from the sea and the land. A lot of the cuisine is influenced by British food, but also has elements of Mediterranean and Pacific Rim cuisine.

E. The combination of New Zealand's beautiful scenery and its small size has resulted in it becoming the set for many big-budget movies. Some of the most famous include "The Lord of the Rings", "The Hobbit", "Avatar" and "The Chronicles of Narnia". Because of the success and the popularity of these movies, countless people come to New Zealand just to see the place where their favorite movie was filmed.

A. Alaska is a US state located on the northwestern edge of North America across the Bering strait from Asia. It has a sea border with Russia. It is the largest state in the US and the least densely populated. Alaska was first colonized in the 17th century by Russia. However, in 1867 it was bought by the United States for 7,2 million dollars.

B. About half the population of Alaska is white, the rest is mostly made up of American Indians, Alaskan Natives and Asians. Over 5% of the population of Alaska speak one of the 20 native languages. Most of the people living in Alaska are Christian and since there are still a lot of Russian immigrants living in Alaska there has been an increasing number of Russian Orthodox churches appearing, the first one having been built in 1795.

C. In 1968 oil was discovered in Alaska at Prudhoe Bay, and in 1977 the Trans-Alaska Pipeline System was built. This resulted in a huge oil boom. Since then Alaska has funded large state budgets and canceled its state income tax. One of the biggest issues in Alaska today is the ongoing argument about whether or not there should be oil drilling in Arctic National Wildlife Refuge.

D. Alaska includes many islands, some of the most well-known are the Aleutian Islands. These islands are home to many active volcanoes. Alaska has more than three million lakes. A lot of the terrain is covered with glacier ice. The climate of Alaska is subarctic with the lowest recorded temperatures reaching -62 degrees Celsius.

E. Denali National Park and Preserve is a national park located in the central region of Alaska. The park surrounds mount Denali — the highest mountain in North America (6144 m). The terrain of the park consists of a mix of forests, including the taiga, as well as tundra, glaciers, snow and bare rock. In the winter you can go dog sledding, skiing and snowmobiling.

Annie. Hi uncle James! I'm writing a letter to Santa Claus!

Uncle James. Wow! What are you telling him?

Annie. I'm telling him that I've been really good!

Uncle James. Have you written that you've read the first book of "Harry Potter" all by yourself and that you are the best student in class?

Annie. No! But I've written that I've learnt how to play "Jingle Bells" on the piano.

Uncle James. Ok! So what are you asking him to bring you? I bet you want a Barbie doll.

Annie. No! I don't like dolls. I've asked him to bring me a guitar.

Uncle James. But you already play the piano!

Annie. So what? I want to play the guitar, too.

Uncle James. Anything else?

Annie. Yes! I'm asking him what kind of cookies he would like to eat when he comes to me.

Uncle James. Do you always leave him cookies to eat on Christmas Eve?

Annie. Always! And he always eats them all!

Shop assistant. Can I help you?

Customer. Yes, please. I'd like to buy some books as a gift for my grandchildren.

Shop assistant. How old are your grandchildren?

Customer. Four years old. A boy and a girl. My daughter has twins, you see.

Shop assistant. How nice!

Customer. Yes. I'd like to buy two books of fairy tales. What else could you recommend?

Shop assistant. We have very nice colouring books for children that age. Do they like drawing?

Customer. Absolutely! That's a great idea!

Shop assistant. Here are some books of fairy tales. They cost $20 each. The colouring books are $15 each.

Customer. Excellent. I'd also like two boxes of coloured pencils.

Shop assistant. Here you go. Is that a Christmas gift?

Customer. No, it's a birthday gift. They were born on the 20th of December.

Shop assistant. Would you like to buy a Christmas gift for your daughter? We have a wonderful cook book for just $30.

Customer. She loves cooking. I'll take that, too. Thank you very much!

Shop assistant. You are welcome!
